SAVE CORN CROP FOURTH OF LEAF BY USING SILOS IS UNFIT TO CUT

Frost Bitten Corn Will Not Have Full Feeding Value, However.

Farmer-farmers who own one or more of Wisconsin's 25,000 silos, are fortunate, particularly if their corn crop was seriously damaged by the recent heavy frosts. The silo furnishes the best means of salvaging the feeding value of the crop.

According to F. B. Johnson of the State Agricultural Experiment Station, the corn should be ensiled as soon as possible after it is killed by frost, for if it is allowed to stand in the field, rains will wash out most of the nutrients from the frosted foliage, and the winds will also whip off the dried, brittle leaves.

If the corn is very immature when it is frosted, it will make silage which is too watery and sour if the fodder is put into the silo with all the water, and the silage will be of poor quality. The silage should be cut at once, the bundles may be allowed to lie in the field until the fodder is dried out a trifle, so that it will contain about as much water as corn fodder does at the usual silage stage of maturity.

On the other hand, when there is a large acreage of frosted corn, and often before the best of it can be cut and ensiled, it will have dried out too much to make good silage. In this case, enough water should be added as the fodder is ensiled so that the material will pack well. Furthermore, especial care should be taken in tramping such fodder firmly in the silo.

Of course, when frost strikes the corn crop before it reaches the usual stage for silage, less feeding value will be secured from the crop than if it had not been frosted. This is because the greatest storage of nutrients occurs in corn during the later stages of growth, after the kernels develop and as they are being filled with rich nutrients. The silo, however, will preserve what feeding value there is in the crop in a form where the greatest return possible can be secured from it.

The Constitution and the Railroads

PREAMBLE OF THE CONSTITUTION: "We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution for the United States of America."

A few of the merits of the railroads in their relation to the purposes of the constitution are given below:

TO FORM A MORE PERFECT UNION: This bespeaks co-operation. The union means union of purposes, ideals, and struggles toward those ideals. It means to employ every resource available to human society to co-operate together for the accomplishment of those achievements which mark our progress. No instrumentality of civilization, today, contributes more toward this end than the railroads, which make co-operation possible.

ESTABLISH JUSTICE: Knowledge is the guiding star to intelligent human achievement. Justice depends upon intelligent conception of our relation to each other and our dependence upon each other. Justice would give credit to those factors which add to opportunity and enlarge the scope of human achievement. The railroads by affording a channel for the free flow of commerce and also an easy mode of travel and personal contact between individuals widely separated, should, if justice is established, find a place of high esteem in the minds of those who receive the benefit of their service.

PROVIDE FOR THE COMMON DEFENSE: The United States has resources of marvelous extent but to marshal these in time of need for defensive purposes requires transportation. We have the most perfect and extensive transportation system in the world. This contributed immeasurably to our success in the last war and is an invaluable asset to the nation.

PROMOTE THE GENERAL WELFARE: The general welfare means the welfare of us all taken collectively and the promotion of our welfare is related to our power of production which leads to prosperity. There is no limit to the general welfare except the limit of our power of production. The railroads have been the principal instrumentality by which man's markets have been expanded and his production thereby stimulated. They have contributed immeasurably to the general welfare.

SECURE THE BLESSINGS OF LIBERTY TO OURSELVES AND POSTERITY: The blessings of liberty are secure only when citizens of a great nation co-operate together toward a higher ideal of individual usefulness and service to each other. Bloes, classes or struggles between one faction and another are out of place in our civilization. If a people who are blessed as we are cannot intelligently co-operate with one another, where else on earth should we expect to find such a people. America, the just Nation, should be our constant theme—allegiance to our constitution, the watchword of our life.

PICKLE PACKING PLANT IS STARTED

200 Barrels of Dill Variety to Be Put Out This Year.

For possibly the first time in this city, dill pickles are being made on a wholesale basis. George Rashid and W. M. Frost have started the project here which, the results are good, will continue to be a Janesville industry.

Two packing plants are being conducted, one on the Rushd farm on Belmont avenue, where eight acres of cucumbers and three-fourths acre of dill have been raised, and the other at Clinton. Mr. Frost, who has considerable experience in the work, is in charge.

Process of Manufacture.

The pickles are packed directly into the barrels. A layer of dillweed is placed on the bottom, the cucumbers are then packed in layers, and another layer of dill and spices placed on top. The barrel is then filled up with strong brine and sealed for shipping. One barrel of dill is needed for every fifteen barrels of pickles.

Not attempt is being made to handle the small pickles at present. They are packed in brine and shipped to manufacturers to be used for sweet or other varieties.

200 Barrels This Year.

At Clinton all the cucumbers are bought from farmers on contract. The local plant also uses more than is raised on the farm.

It is estimated that the output this year will be about 200 barrels. Each partner has complained of a lack of labor which has prevented them carrying out the project on the scale planned. The goal was to have been 3,000 barrels. It is stated that hundreds of bushels of cucumbers have been wasted because they grew too large before being picked. Recently it has been necessary to bring workmen from Watertown. Mr. Rashid stated that about 10 people are employed at present.

RELIEF DONATIONS STILL BEING MADE

Contributions continue to come in for the Janesville Japanese Relief fund, and Miss Hattie Alden, secretary of the Janesville branch, American Red Cross, here, has received an entire quota of $2,000 subscribed to the county, in the city alone.

But $87 more is needed to do this, and she has appealed to the public to help. The drive have not yet made their contributions.

Latest contributions include: The Rev. H. J. Scriver, $10; the American Merchants and Savings Bank, $10; Ellen Fitzgerald, $1; a friend, J. S. $1; P. H. Kest, $1; a friend, E. K. $1; and J. H. Graves, $1, all at the First National Bank, 1001 N. Main St., Janesville, $1, made through the branch office. This makes the total to date, raised by the Janesville branch, $1,953.

Total raised by the entire county Red Cross is $2,575.53.

HONOR THOSE WHO LED COUNTY TO VICTORY AT FAIRS

edition of the Gazette. "The county must step forward and hold the place won."

Nearly a dozen persons were treated at the fair, and the fair was a success. The fair was a success. The fair was a success.

Water Service Poor

In a statement issued at midnight, Mayor Frank E. S. Dringham said that a proper water service and supply would have averted the disaster. The catastrophe had been long in the making, he said, owing to inadequate water mains.

Every relief facility in Berkeley, Oakland, Richmond, Piedmont, Emeryville, Alameda, Albany and San Francisco, needed in the emergency.

Berkeley last night was mobilized in a few hours after the full extent of the disaster became known.

With the city hall as headquarters, Police Chief James H. Quinn mobilized a force of several hundred deputies, including hundreds of University of California students, who assisted in collecting the displaced persons, removing household goods and fighting small fires.

City Armed Camp

The Red Cross, Salvation Army and other relief organizations are working to assist the victims. Quarters were quickly provided for the homeless.

When darkness fell, Berkeley virtually was an armed camp with 700 soldiers of the regular army and the National guard on duty. Only a few scattered instances of looting were reported.

Respect Brethren Remembered

Respect was paid to the pioneer breeders of the county who laid the foundation for the present show herd success by their early development of pure stock when the Chamberlin, Beloit, was called upon.

"There has been amazing progress made over a score of years," this Chamberlin, Beloit, breeder declared. "It served me great pleasure to go to the fair and see Rock county stock winning. Don't stop, but keep on building."

Rock county succeeds because of good co-operation, declared E. T. Glasco, county agent.

E. C. Hemmingsway told of the continued effort of the herdsmen to improve the quality of the exhibit.

"All of the boys worked as if they owned the cattle and had lived in the county all their lives," it was stated.

Other men who spoke were F. O. Holt, Chris. Rye, Archie Riebel, J. H. Archie, Gullen, and L. E. Jackson.

Big Work for Bureau

The request of the agricultural bureau was to have the Rock County Farm Bureau take over the farm development work of the county. It is proposed to make the bureau the clearing house organization for all activities relating to the farm and farm markets and build up a new organization.

An advisory committee representing all phases of farm development will be created to advise with the bureau executive committee to plan, finance and carry through definite projects. The administration work, it is proposed, will be handled by a commissioner of agriculture, responsible for the projects with other workers having specific work to follow, including that of educational activities. Under the Smith-Hughes law the government will appropriate one-half of the salary, the state another percentage, with the county to make up the balance.

Education Now Stressed

"I am interested in that country boy and girl that drops out of school even before the high school period," declared J. A. Craig, introduced as the farm Rock county's agricultural advance.

"The youth of Rock county has a right to the education and training that the people want them to have."

"Rock county must have more efficiency in handling its agricultural business. We have reached a stage where we cannot 'feel around' a bit more and the time is ripe to put the Farm Bureau up in its deserved position and make it go to the benefit of every farmer in the county. I do not care what line of work that is followed, as long as it is honest, and it is a source of money, and grains, to that of livestock, we simply have got to put more business into the service. We can and will create an organization that will handle this business providing the bureau is supported to the degree it should be by the farmers."

Excellent Spirit Shown

It was voted that a resolution be passed urging the Farm Bureau to extend its program and build an organization for greater results.

There was keen interest for the future program of the county.

"Society-Plan" the prize goat that was the mascot of the show herds, loaned by Seth Crall, was introduced. There was a prolonged applause as the county's sweetest champion banner and the "bushel-basket" of ribbons were shown.

During the banquet, A. E. Piper, of the Shurtliff Ice Cream company, brought forward a shield of ice cream with the slogan "Rock County First," printed in blue letters. There was a "kyrieley" cheer for Piper as the shield was served for dessert.

At the close of the meeting it was announced that "the thing for Rock county to do is to step-out and keep it."

OFFICER'S WIFE GETS DIVORCE

Policeman Allwood of Beloit Gave Other Women Attention, Charge.

Officer Stuart E. Allwood of the Beloit police force was infatuated with other women and not with his wife. He frankly admitted it and as a result, Mary E. Allwood, a telephone operator for the Beloit Telephone Co., was granted a divorce Monday by Judge George Grimm in the Rock county circuit court.

The grounds were cruelty and inhuman treatment. Mrs. Allwood, 24, testified, as did Mrs. Anna Flynn, to Officer Allwood's attentions to other women. He is a member of the night police force.

The couple was married in Chicago Jan. 7, 1920. Attorney Thomas Nolan appeared for the plaintiff and Woolsey and Arnold for the defense.

MAKE THEATRE COLLAPSE; ONE IS KILLED

Cochrane Dead;
4 in Hospital;
Loss Is $100,000

Claude E. Cochrane was killed, four men are in Mercy hospital and $100,000 damage was caused when the new Saxe theater on West Milwaukee street collapsed at 1:20 p. m. Tuesday.

The injured are:
A. M. Schilling, Moline, Ill., plasterer, broken arm.
Frank Burdick, Janesville, broken wrist;
William Hill, 340 Western avenue, mason, broken knee;
Charles Fawks, Moline, Ill., mason, extent unknown.

The dead man, one of Janesville's prominent plumbing contractors, the injured men and four other workmen, were working in the building. They had just returned from lunch. With-out warning, and with a roar that reverberated through the business district like a great explosion, the walls and ceiling of the structure tumbled in upon the men as if through a funnel.

The theater building ad-joined the Grand hotel on West Milwaukee street.

Laundry Boiler Explodes.
When the east wall caved in it struck the rear end of the Troy Steam laundry and exploded the boiler.

Several firemen ceased rescue work when the boiler exploded in a rear building of the Troy Steam laundry. The explosion was extinguished with water from tanks on the roof.

Roof Goes First.
The building was about 90 per cent completed. T. S. Willis, Janesville contractor, said he estimated the loss at $100,000, with insurance covering all but $25,000 or $30,000.

With almost no warning to the men working on the front and rear, plastering and lath work on the roof, the roof nearest the stage on the west side caved in and was followed by the remainder of the roof and the east wall.

Many phone calls were received at the Gazette office by persons wanting to know where "the explosion" had occurred, so loud was the noise made by the falling walls. Mr. R. F. Kuehn, center street, two blocks from the disaster, heard the crash.

Brady Just Escaped.
Cochrane was talking a moment before the building was destroyed, with James Brady, foreman for the Willis company. He was standing near the rear about the spot where Fawks was pinned beneath the wall.

"I walked out of the building and just got out in time," Mr. Brady said.

Plasterers who worked on their scaffolds above, said they remembered seeing Cochrane running towards the front of the building as the roof fell.

John Keating, 121 South Academy street, foreman of the plasterers who was working with William Hill, had a narrow escape. With blood streaming down his face, he was rescued by a waiting word as to whether all the men were saved.

Contractor Will Advance.
Contractor Willis advanced no theory as to what caused the collapse. Plasterers, however, said they believed it was overweight caused by a ventilation room which rested on a section of the roof at the southwest corner of the building. They said that part of the ceiling went first. The weight of the room is believed to have been too heavy for the supports.

The men, terrified, scurried for the exits. All but the five miraculously escaped the roof's injuries. Most of them were uninjured.

Wrenn to Rescue.
William Hill was working near the front of the theater plastering one of the walls near the top and leaning on a section of the roof to escape. He was pinned between the steel beam and the mass of plaster, brick and mortar. He was the first rescued by Wrenn, who responded to an alarm. He was taken to Mercy hospital in an ambulance.

As friends frantically searched through the ruins for others who might be pinned under the wreckage, firemen, policemen and citizens helped tear away the mass of wreckage under which was Schilling, who had been plastering near the rear in the east wall.

It is regrettable," said the governor, "that the city of Janesville is dominated and controlled by an organization that would use all the powers of the civil authorities and agents, in lieu of which citizens, both innocent and guilty, are summarily seized, upon, named, beaten and held in some cases, murdered by hooded masked mobs. I am afraid that in order to clean up your situation we will have to take your county under complete martial law."

Faiths are Postponed.
In the same message Governor Walton spread condemnation to many hearts by declaring it would be necessary to put off for a time the annual state fairs at Muskegon and Janesville in order properly to enforce military rule. Public gatherings of such scope would entail a violation of military regulations which cannot be allowed, the governor said.

WISCONSIN SUPREME COURT IN SESSION

Two cases affecting prohibition enforcement will be argued on the present assignment, together with the suit of the Northern Wisconsin Tobacco Pool against the Belknap company testing the state cooperative society law.

$150,000 Damage When Engine
Jumps Rail at Edgerton Switch

A derailed rail set too close to a switch-frog was the probable cause of southern Wisconsin's worst train wreck in two years. The derailment of locomotive, tender and five coaches occurred on a night of a mile west of the Edgerton depot, Monday morning. Damage was unofficially estimated at $150,000. The photo shows the big engine leaning into two box cars that saved the 125 passengers when they held the train from falling over. Five hundred feet of track was torn up and traffic interrupted for 24 hours.

U. S. to Sue Bethlehem, $2,500,000
Washington—Failing to reach a settlement by negotiation, the shipping board has instructed its legal department to prepare suit against the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation for recovery of about $2,500,000, alleged to have been overpaid under that firm's war contracts.

WRECKAGE AT EDGERTON IS CLEARED AWAY
Train service through Edgerton was resumed at 11 a. m. Tuesday following the wreck Monday morning. The wreckage of the train was being cleared away by a temporary track. Wrecking equipment was sent out from Milwaukee and the damage cars taken there for repair.

During the interval that the track was blocked, trains backed from Madison and met those from Janesville, passengers walking about one-fourth mile to make connections.

POSTPONE DATE FOR HEARING
A second postponement was ordered by the railroad commission Friday in the hearing on Rock county's petition for safeguarding the international crossing on the Janesville-Beloit highway at Town Line. Originally scheduled for Sept. 5, the hearing was postponed to Sept. 20, and the latest word from the commission is that it will not be held until Sept. 27, at 10 a. m. at the court house here.

COMMISSION WILL CONDUCT HEARINGS HERE, WEDNESDAY

ROCK STOCK EXHIBIT HOME AFTER WINNING 781 RIBBONS.

NISBET IS PRAISED
Speakers at "Y" Banquet Laud Work of Leader and All Who Cooperated.

Keeping Rock county first was the key-note of the spirit evident at the banquet to celebrate the return of the successful county exhibits, with 50 attending, in the Janesville Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. The work of J. C. Nisbet and his staff was unstintingly praised from the consignors, who declared the stock had been given the best possible care and attention possible under show conditions.

The herdsmen were voted a bonus by the Rock County First committee. J. C. Nisbet was presented with a Rock county made pen and pencil.

"It has been a pleasure to work in Rock county, for I do not believe one could have found such boosting cooperation in any other county in the country," declared Nisbet, who managed the show herd project. "You cannot help but get that Rock County First spirit. The stock won 256 blue ribbons, 111 championships, 288 gold ribbons and 124 third and paid expenses."

Praise for Nisbet.
In introducing Nisbet, speakers declared that Rock county breeders who consigned stock to the show herd had explicit confidence in his ability.

"He made good and then some, for the victorious scores proved his management on selections and the stock is in more superior condition on its return than when it was first sent out," declared J. A. Craig.

After a review of the activities of the year and introducing the herdsmen, a number of speakers were called upon and all demanded that the county continue its progressive county-wide development program.

Bankers Pledge Aid
"I urge Rock county to prepare for the future and whatever is possible to make farming more prosperous," stated William Bladen of the Merchants and Savings bank. "Our bankers are interested in the welfare of the county and will do all in our power to aid in the development of the county."

MINNESOTA FOUND SLAIN; SEEK SLAYER
Stevens Point—Positive identification of the man found dead in the cellarway of a deserted farm home near here Saturday as Edward S. Armstrong, 56, St. Cloud, Minn., has been made here by Dr. O. P. Erick, St. Cloud, a brother-in-law, according to reports received here.

Identification was made through an inspection of teeth which the dentist had treated.

Investigators here are inclined to the belief that Armstrong was murdered. Working on this theory, a state-wide search has begun for the supposed slayer. Robbery is declared to have been the motive.

Armstrong is survived by a wife and two children, living in St. Cloud.

AUTO WEIGHT TAX LAW TO BE TESTED IN SUPREME COURT

Madison—The supreme court today granted the motion of the Transportation Association of Wisconsin to start an original action testing the validity of an automobile weight tax law, enacted by the 1923 legislature.

Arguments were set on the October assignment of the August calendar.

Ralph M. Hoyt, former deputy attorney general and counsel for the transportation association, attacked the statute on the ground that it established unlawful discrimination between the owners of automobiles of different weight, and that it imposed an invalid condition on trucks operated during the present year.

The building heights law, enacted by the 1923 legislature, will come to a test before the supreme court here Friday, as a result of leave granted today to hear arguments on three cases attacking constitutionality of the statute. Motions for immediate hearing were granted in the cases of Piper Brothers against the state; the Wisconsin Telephone company, Milwaukee against the state, and of a Green Bay Hotel company against the state.

He has been at South Wayne three years, coming from Illinois.

He was brought to the county asylum and Chicago friends notified. Still another insane man was picked up on the road between Elkhorn and Delavan Sunday night, and brought to the asylum.

He has not been identified, but appears to have escaped from some institution.

SHOOT TO KILL IS ANTI-MASK ORDER

Lewistown, Pa.—The city council has given to the city clerk of police and his men to "shoot and kill" any persons wearing hoods or garbs hiding their identity when found invading any homes of this city or molesting its citizens, in case they resist the officers. This order is the result of a visit by three white robed men to the home of Georgia Crooks, a negro woman.

Madison—The state treasury held a balance of $1,080,677 at the close of the fiscal year, according to a report today of State Treasurer Solomon Levitan. The balance showed a decrease from the total of $1,558,146 on Aug. 1.

$10,000,000 Fire Sweeps Berkeley, University Seat

San Francisco.—Forest, brush and grass fires, fanned by strong north winds and fed by undergrowth baked to a tinder by the prolonged summer, raged in nearly every county in northern California yesterday.

Several resorts and small towns were severely damaged or destroyed by the flames, which sprang into being in several instances almost without warning and quickly spread beyond the control of national foresters, state fire wardens and hundreds of volunteer fire fighters.

Eldorado, a small mining town in Eldorado county, was virtually destroyed and the 150 persons residing there were forced to flee. The inhabitants of Colfax in Placer county, also prepared to flee when their town was threatened.

A fire in Sonoma Valley destroyed the Boyes Springs hotel and swept on toward Petters Springs and El Verano.

Berkeley, Cal.—On the wings of a dry hot wind that swept furiously from the landward, a brush fire in the Contra Costa county hills above San Francisco Bay leaped down the valley into Berkeley yesterday afternoon and for a time fared its way unchecked toward the heart of the college town. It burned 35 residential blocks, causing damage estimated at $10,000,000 and leaving about 2,400 homeless before it was brought under control early last evening.

There were no authentic reports of deaths or serious injuries today. Many persons were slightly injured.

Berkeley, the home of "the University of California" situated across the bay from San Francisco, today faced the greatest task of reconstruction in its history. The fire, sweeping through the prosperous and thickly settled Crockett, Euclid avenue and La Loma park districts of North Berkeley, laid waste at least 35 buildings, including the homes of many wealthy and prominent citizens.

Starts in Brush Fire.
The conflagration began in a small brush fire of undetermined origin early yesterday on the northeastern slope of the high ridge which lies on the northern edge of the city, and at 2 o'clock the flames roared over the ridge and down the hill, by the high wind, and went into the residential district. Within a few hours the flames had spread ten blocks to the southeast and were stubbornly defying the efforts of hundreds of frantic householders, police and fire departments from Berkeley and adjacent cities, and volunteers who fought vainly to extinguish them.

Dynamic Clears Path.
Dynamite, with which the fire fighters ripped away a fire break on the northern slope, checked the spread of the conflagration in that direction, but it was not until the wind subsided into a gentle breeze that the flames were checked. The rapid advance of the fire was checked and danger of further destruction averted.

Local Girl in Berkeley School, Safe

One Janesville young woman—Mabel Nott—and a number of relatives of Janesville people are in Berkeley, Cal., where a terrible fire destroyed the home of her father, who was killed or injured, as far as can be determined, these people are not worried over their safety.

Mrs. Mabel Nott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nott, 665 North Pearl St., is a sophomore at the University of California, at Berkeley. She has been home for the last few days, but all of her clothes were burned when the building in which she was living was totally destroyed. She left the city less than two weeks ago and reported at school Sept. 15. Since the fire, she is staying with an uncle, Charles, at Oakland, Calif.

Col. and Mrs. L. T. Richardson and daughters, Marie, Florence and Loraine, are in Berkeley, living on Arch street in a home they recently purchased and where they went from Janesville. The young woman spent several weeks with their uncle and aunt, Marshall P. and Miss Sarah Richardson, joined later by their father and mother. Mr. Richardson has not been home for some time.

Mrs. F. P. Lewis, 115 Jackson street, has a granddaughter, Frances Smith, who attends Mills college, which is on the outskirts of Berkeley. She probably was not touched by the fire. F. P. Lewis has received no word from their relatives there.

Funeral Services Held for Lad Killed by Racing Car at Fair Grounds.
Robert Gillespie, 14, victim of the 100-mile auto race here Saturday afternoon, when the car of J. B. Matus struck him, was buried in the morning at 10 a. m. at the fair grounds.

Funeral services were held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie, 609 Portland avenue, Beloit, Monday night. Rev. H. A. Studebaker of the Second Congregational church, officiated.

The Gillespie family had moved to Beloit in August from Grand Marsh, Wis., where Robert might have enrolled at Beloit high school and the college. He has just joined the high school R. O. T. C. Lieutenant Williams, his commander, was present when the accident occurred. The body was taken to Kilbourn, Tuesday.

ANOTHER DIES IN RUM WAR

Chicago—While police are searching for the slayers of George Meegan and George Bucher, killed last night while driving in an automobile, in what police called a renewal of warfare between rival beer running gangs, Mayor Dwyer and city authorities probably will not touch a speck of rum, so long as it is sold in saloons, soft drink parlors, coffee shops or other dispensary of unlawful beer or whiskey.

BOMB FOUND UPON PORCH

Madison—Police are investigating the finding of a lead pipe bomb on the rear porch of the home of Joseph A. Bell, president of the Badger State Advancement association for the blind, at 201 E. Main street, according to the police. The bomb was found in a box, and was probably a threat to the life of the man.

RACING CAR DRIVER LEAVES HOSPITAL
Otto Wegib, Milwaukee, driver of a racing car that did a double somersault in the 100 mile event here Saturday afternoon, left the St. Mary's hospital Monday. He escaped miraculously after being picked out from under the machine.

Hog Thieves Use Chloroform Fumes, Belief in Broadsheet
Broadland—Forty-five young hogs have been stolen recently from J. W. Mitchell, Decatur township, southwest of here. Mr. Mitchell is of the opinion that the thieves' chloroform hogs, which makes it easy to knock them out.

Another farmer reports the loss of 200 chickens, which were crushed ready for shipment. Other chickens also reported stolen.

SAVE CORN CROP FOURTH OF LEAF BY USING SILOS IS UNFIT TO CUT

Frost Bitten Corn Will Not Have Full Feeding Value, However.

Badger farmers who own one or more of Wisconsin's 95,000 silos, are fortunate, particularly if their corn crop was seriously damaged by the recent heavy frosts. The silo furnishes the best means of salvaging the feeding value of the crop.

According to F. B. Morrison of the State Agricultural Experiment Station, the crop should be ensiled as soon as possible after it is killed by frost, for if it is allowed to stand in the field, rains will wash out most of the nutriment from the frost-bitten forage, and the winds will also whip off the dried, brittle leaves.

If the crop is very immature when it is frosted, it will make silage which is too watery and sour if the fodder is put into the silo with all the water present in such immature plants. Accordingly, if the fodder is cut at once, the bundles may be allowed to lie in the field until the fodder is dried out a trifle, so that it will contain about as much water as corn fodder does at the usual silage stage of maturity.

On the other hand, when there is a large acreage of frost-bitten corn, quite often before the last of it can be cut and ensiled, it will have dried out too much to make good silage. In this case, enough water should be added as the fodder is ensiled so that the material will pack well. Furthermore, special care should be taken in tramping such fodder firmly in the silo.

Of course, when frost strikes the corn crop before it reaches the usual stage for silage, less feeding value will be secured from the crop than if it had not been frosted. This is because the greatest storage of nutriment occurs in corn during the later stages of growth, after the kernels develop and as they are being filled with rich nutrients. The silo, however, will preserve what feeding value there is in the crop in a form where the greatest return possible can be secured from it.

PRINCE HELPS AT SILO FILLING JOB

High Blount, Ala.,—Ran Crawford, known in England as the Prince of Wales, helped farm hands at his ranch fill silos with chopped sunflowers, taking the lead in chopping the silage.

House-to-house Canvass Planned for Salvation Army—No Tag Day.

There will be no tag day in connection with the annual Salvation Army drive here next week. This was the decision arrived at in an advisory committee meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce late Monday. It is thought that the city will be thoroughly canvassed by house-to-house workers, hence tag day would be superfluous. Women workers met at the Y. W. C. A. Monday afternoon and effected ward organization for the house-to-house canvass in the residence districts.

Twelve majores were selected as follows: First, Mrs. B. W. Tolles; Second, Mrs. H. H. Green; Third, Mrs. Eda Wilcox; Fourth, Mrs. Peter Myers; Fifth, Mrs. Charles A. Sanborn; Sixth, Mrs. Sadie Carman; The Fifth ward major has not yet been secured.

Captains and canvassers enlisted thus far include the following: Messengers, Henry Hanson, George Eubank, Arthur Nobis, George Allen, Frank Drew, O. C. Homberger, P. Rasmussen, C. H. Cox, F. Harter, Ina Myzer, Alice Murdock, Stephen Bolles, J. J. Cunningham, Charles Hawke, T. McKeligue, Eugene Currier, A. C. Campbell, Katherine Stahler, Ralph Soullman, L. P. Bennett, O. D. Bates, H. M. VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor, Gazette:

In your Monday's issue on page 4 you have an article that I was arrested for speeding on the Janesville-Beloit highway by Deputy Oscar Karberg.

The fact of the matter is this: I was returning to Janesville at about 10 o'clock at night. Officer Karberg was riding in a touring car behind two cars which were also ahead of me from Happy Hollow.

I was taking my car in an apparently careless manner, would drive fast and go part way past the cars ahead of him and then drop back behind again. I thought he was intending to pass me and was afraid to try to pass him, as at times he was on the left side of the road, and going at a rapid pace. Finally he did pass them and I passed them, all at about 25 miles an hour, crossing the railroad tracks at about 10 miles an hour.

I did increase my speed at the foot of Center avenue hill to about 30 miles an hour to get a good start for the hill. He passed me at the top of the hill and immediately behind me and I stopped to find out what he wanted. He then told me I was violating the city speed limit, which was 15 miles an hour and asked me what I should do about it. I told him it was up to him and he told me to appear in Judge Maxfield's court at 10 o'clock Monday morning, which I did.

In court Mr. Karberg admitted that my story was correct.

Yours truly,

PETER EATS.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor, Gazette:

In your Monday's issue on page 4 you have an article that I was arrested for speeding on the Janesville-Beloit highway by Deputy Oscar Karberg.

The fact of the matter is this: I was returning to Janesville at about 10 o'clock at night. Officer Karberg was riding in a touring car behind two cars which were also ahead of me from Happy Hollow.

I was taking my car in an apparently careless manner, would drive fast and go part way past the cars ahead of him and then drop back behind again. I thought he was intending to pass me and was afraid to try to pass him, as at times he was on the left side of the road, and going at a rapid pace. Finally he did pass them and I passed them, all at about 25 miles an hour, crossing the railroad tracks at about 10 miles an hour.

I did increase my speed at the foot of Center avenue hill to about 30 miles an hour to get a good start for the hill. He passed me at the top of the hill and immediately behind me and I stopped to find out what he wanted. He then told me I was violating the city speed limit, which was 15 miles an hour and asked me what I should do about it. I told him it was up to him and he told me to appear in Judge Maxfield's court at 10 o'clock Monday morning, which I did.

In court Mr. Karberg admitted that my story was correct.

Yours truly,

PETER EATS.

"Civilization."

We are going to have in this country a new magazine devoted to what its publishers call "the civilized minority." As a starter E. L. Mencken, one of the editors, has been editing another magazine. He has written in this style, a quotation from his pen, in order to indicate what sort of "uncivilized majority" he is not going to represent:

"All of the colossal accumulated wealth of the United States, the greatest robber nation in history, tends to force itself at least once a year through the narrow neck of the Manhattan funnel. To that bald, harsh island come all the thieves of the republic with their—bankers from the far lands of the Middle West, lumbermen from the northwestern coast, mine owners from the mountains, oil speculators from Texas and Oklahoma, cotton mill sweaters from the South—blacklegs and exploiters without end—all laden with cash, all eager to spend it, all easy marks for the town rogues and panders."

This will perhaps be indicative of the revolutionary writing of the new publication. We only quote this because here is an opportunity to remark a few gentle remarks about a certain sort of fantastic mentality America has been bringing in to the world in recent years and found a place in literature—we use that word literature as covering all the offspring of minds diseased or sound and finding its way into print under pasteboard covers or in current publications and pamphlets. We have the sex ranter for one. We dismiss him with the same feeling one has when passing a garbage dump. Then there is the "interpreter of life." He is the sort who denies the existence of anything. He has removed "right" and "wrong" from his vocabulary. He lives in a solid atmosphere and possesses a consciousness which at one time came from absolute frappe and a few sniffs of cocaine. Anything that has been established for more than six months is to be brailled at. He is the leading ratter of the world. For a long time he has hoped the moon might be induced to rise in the south and the sun get up in the west or not rise at all, for like Raymond Hitchcock he only wakes up when they turn on the electric lights.

We have 'em, right here in America—sloshing around in the field of literature, writing smelly things, fighting mad because the thesaurus has so few words to drag out and pile up in heaps. They admit that they are the interpreters of the highest thought, and once in a while a school teacher who has fallen under the spell, begins to show her pupils that all the classics and all the finer things on the book shelves, are nothing but kitchen rubbish. That is the pity of it. "He," remarks the hypnotized person, "is so revealing," and goes right out to give himself up to what she calls "self-expression," usually ending with 20 days in jail.

The only satisfaction is in knowing that the "civilized" part of the world measured by the yardstick of these literary bolsheviks is still in the minority. Most of the people are looking for a literature that one can absorb without using disinfocants but it is a hard task to pick one or two diamonds from acres of morass and mud and slime.

Stepping on the Gas.

The Kenosha News carries the information that the Rotary club of that city has commenced a crusade against dangerous automobile driving somewhat along the lines carried out in the work of the Kiwanis club of Minneapolis which has been rather startling and somewhat successful. Any such attempt will bring about the discovery that it is not always the speeder who is a dangerous character. Auto drivers who are green, who are nervous and uncertain, are equally as dangerous as the speeder. The autoist who fails to give any signals, who stops suddenly in the midst of traffic, who turns corners, no matter whether he has the right of way or not, is not a safe person in driving. There is no hope for the confirmed speeder. The only way to curb him is to confine him to a car that will not run over 20 miles an hour. Also we will never have traffic laws obeyed and danger eliminated until we have greater consideration for the rights of others and perhaps that will come along with the millennium.

KING SILVER DETHRONED

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington.—The World war dethroned King Silver as well as the Kaiser and other autocrats. While silver never had occupied so commanding a position as gold, still it was a precious metal, held in high esteem both in the arts and industries and for money. The substance still maintains its popularity in the arts, but as a monetary factor it has been dethroned in many jurisdictions. Gold is the only monetary factor to come out of the crucible of war worth as much as on the day of the first outbreak.

Everyone knows the way in which the paper currency of practically every country in the world except the United States has declined until, in such countries as Germany, Poland, Austria and Russia, the lower denominations literally are not worth the paper they are printed upon. The Department of Commerce has just concluded an exhaustive study showing that silver, as a monetary counter, shared to some extent in this depreciation.

The Department made a thorough investigation of what happened to this precious metal during the war and the troubled years following the war and reached three major conclusions. They are:

First, silver has been dethroned from its pre-war strength in fifteen countries. There has been a reduction in the weight and fineness of silver coins in Brazil, Chile, Costa Rica, Mexico, Peru, Canada, Great Britain, Holland, Ceylon, China, French Indo-China, India, Japan, Siam, and the Straits Settlements. There are movements afoot looking to the restoration of the pre-war values but when a money market has been debased it is almost impossible to restore its value.

Second, the flood of inconvertible paper currency has driven vast quantities of silver into hiding or caused it to be melted down into bullion and shipped to markets where higher prices are paid. This is in accordance with Gresham's Law, a well recognized law of political economy. The law holds that when two qualities of money are in circulation in a country, the poorer, than the other, the inferior money will drive out the superior variety. This is because the man who has a good, heavy silver coin or piece of gold will not pay it out and put it into circulation if he can buy what he wants with paper money, the future value of which he has reason to doubt. He will keep his good coin.

Third, a decline in the general demand of the public for good money has decreased the demand for silver. So many currencies have passed over our heads during which paper money was used, the public has become accustomed to accepting paper money as having value, even though, in some countries, it is a fluctuating value. Whereas, in former times, many people were suspicious of paper money and insisted on metal, now nearly everyone is educated to the use of paper notes. This naturally has caused a decrease in demand for silver.

These events have spelled hard times for the silver miners. The cost of production of silver has increased just as has the cost of producing shoes or lumber. This cost became so high that, during the war, the United States fixed a price of $1.50 per ounce for American mined silver. Very large quantities were purchased by the government at this price. Had this figure not been fixed it would have been necessary for the treasury to pay perhaps as high as $1.50 for enough silver to make a silver dollar. Such a situation would have resulted in the buying of silver dollars by many people, by giving gold, paper money or checks, and the melting of the silver dollars into bullion. A man could have bought one hundred silver dollars worth $100 in gold, melted the dollars into bullion and sold it by weight for $100. Such a situation was intolerable, so the government fixed a maximum price of $1 per ounce for silver. There is one ounce in the standard silver dollar.

It was not long before the price of silver came cascading down so that the government-fixed price was above the open market price. The American government still was paying $1 per ounce for silver when silver in Europe brought only 70 cents. This spring the Pittman Act under which the treasury paid the fixed price ceased to operate and the price has gone down to the open market level.

American silver producers are much concerned at this and say that the government should continue purchases at $1 per ounce so that the silver miners can produce at a profit. Indeed, the American Mining Congress is considering introducing a suit at law to compel the treasury to continue purchases. Also, the silver producers are planning to form a silver export association in the hope that they can get better prices by shipping silver abroad, thereby creating a shortage in the United States which will have the result of running up the domestic price. A conference to discuss these measures met at Reno, Nevada on September 10.

There is comfort for the silver producer, however, in the fact that several countries important in monetary demand have considerably increased the active circulation of silver. In China, particularly, the coinage of silver has increased. India, a country where silver has always been used in preference even to gold, has completely resorted to silver coinage to circulation and the demand there is never ending one. Egypt is increasing its use and demand for silver. Canada has been piling up silver as a currency reserve. Even in such European countries as Sweden, Switzerland and Holland, which are traditional gold standard nations, the use of silver for coinage is on the increase. Also Great Britain's use of silver coinage shows an increase, so it is not to be expected that silver is to be discarded as a monetary factor.

Some economists, however, would do more for the silver producers than probably any other single thing would be for Germany to adopt the expedient which has been repeatedly suggested of establishing a silver reserve for her currency. The trouble with the German mark is that it has little if any metal back of it. Before the war it was secured by gold, but the German gold is practically all gone. The reserve back of the mark is of microscopic proportions. It would be possible, in the opinion of students, for Germany to get together enough silver to start a new currency with a silver reserve, which would come much nearer maintaining its par value than the present worthless mark.

failure. The army of 100,000 men maintained in Morocco has cost the taxpayers millions upon millions of money. Poverty exists and ancient customs have retarded progress of the people. Superstition and lack of education have again been factors in national backwardness. Republican government failed once, intrigue for a throne by the Carlists has kept the revolutionary spirit alive, and the weakness of the last ministry in an effort to win a war against the Moors with a military force hostile to the home government led directly to the upheaval. But the new dispensation has no more thought for the welfare of the masses of Spaniards than the old autocratic regime. So the last state of the Spaniard may be worse than the first in the change of ministry and under the new military dictatorship.

Abyssinia wants to be in the league of nations. Now if we can get Morocco we might settle all the questions of the world.

THE INEVITABLE.
Grief has no boundaries or dividing lines;
It treats the world according to God's will,
And gives no thought to any man's designs.
Nor heeds the dream he struggles to fulfill.

It is the common visitor to all.
It comes unbidden to the great and low;
We know some day upon us it will fall.
But when the hour shall be we cannot know.

We may not plead: "Oh, Lord, we need his smile."
He may not plead: "This labor have I planned."
Let me continue for a little while.

God wills, and all must bow to God's command.

We dream our dreams and plan our weeks and days.
We send our hopes of earthly joys afar,
We think we must press on for gold or praise,
Only to learn how trivial these are.

The wheels stop—there is crepe upon the door—
What seemed important has been thrust aside.

How strange it seems some men toil as before!
What matters trade when one you loved has died?

Path teaches us that we must be prepared,
Be ready with our courage for the test;
From the sharp hurt of sorrow none is spared,
And when it comes, God knows that hour is best.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT
By ROY K. MOULTON

OUR OWN DAILY SHORT STORY.
Too Literal.

One day a man who was interested in social work went into the town district, and, wishing to see a certain man, but having only a general idea as to where he lived, approached a small boy.

"My boy," he asked, "can you show me where Mr. Schmidowitz lives?"

"Yes, sir. Come right with me, sir."

The boy entered an adjacent doorway and started to climb up the difficult stair. Up four flights he went, the visitor breathlessly following, and finally paused at an open door.

"This is the floor, sir," said the boy. "Mr. Schmidowitz lives in the room above."

"Looks as if we had stacked up against hard luck," remarked the visitor, peering into the room. Mr. Schmidowitz doesn't appear to be here.

"No, sir," was the rejoinder. "That was him stilted down on the front doorstep when we came in."

MOSQUITOES SUSTAINED.
The South Carolina legislature authorized the building of a dam across the Catawba river. The dam created a pond in which there were stagnant places where the malaria carrying mosquitoes might breed. The owner of some land about half a mile from the pond brought suit against the power company, which constructed the dam, alleging that the mosquitoes had led to the removal of tenants from his land and consequent depreciation in the value of the land. He won a judgment on this claim.

The case was carried to the supreme court, where the judgment was reversed. It appeared to the lawyers in this court that the mosquitoes had not confined their malaria carrying activities to this particular tenants but had distributed the disease to all sections near the dam. Wherefore the nuisance was a public one, and the law does not entitle a plaintiff to damages for an injury from a public nuisance.

The plaintiff had no private cause of action unless he could show that the authority conferred upon the power company by the legislature was negligently exercised or that his injury was peculiar to himself and different from the injury suffered by the rest of the public affected.

There was a somewhat analogous case in Wisconsin or Minnesota a few years ago. An employee on a job won damages from the contractor on the ground that the water he supplied for drinking was polluted and as a consequence the man developed typhoid fever. Luckily for those men the legislature had not conferred authority on the contractor to do the job.

This idea of holding those responsible who willfully or carelessly spread disease is apparently growing. The South Carolina court took notice of this fact in rendering its opinion.

"As a matter of supreme public opinion," the court said, "the affirmation of this judgment, opening the flood-gates of litigation would not only bankrupt the useful institutions which make the progress of this state but would bar forever the development of millions of horse power to the sea." The court was remiss. The pond could have been rendered mosquito free with very little attention.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
How to prevent and relieve them
• • • (Miss A. A.)
Answer.—Rub the spot with a bit of moistened soap or iodine with tincture of iodine, or a drop of peroxide, or a drop of glycerin, or if there are many weas, or if a bowl of water containing either a tablespoonful of household ammonia or a heaping tablespoonful of salt. Send stamped self addressed envelope for instructions about the use of mosquito netting and the prevention of mosquito breeding. It is only the female of the species that bites; she does it for the sake of posterity.

Urin Keep Hands.
What to do for my hands; they perspire summer and winter. (Mrs. L. A.)
Answer.—Paint the palms with a solution of 40 grains of chromic acid in one ounce of water, and allow to dry, once daily for a week or 10 days. This has been drawn back; it gives the skin a yellowish discoloration. If that would be objectionable, substitute the following ointment:

Formalin 15 dram
Menthol 2 grains
Lanolin 1 ounce
Rub the palms with this ointment. A bit of this the size of a pea may be rubbed into the palms each night for a week or 10 days. The ointment should be dispensed in a collapsible tube, if possible. Formalin is the standard antiseptic and disinfectant about 40 per cent. strength (liquor formaldehyde) commonly used for disinfection and antisepsis.

The Air Example.
I would like to know if there is any cure for stuttering. When I begin to talk it sounds like a broken record. Some times I can talk fairly well, but words which begin with b, c, or s, are hard to get out. (Mr. J. H. C.)
Answer.—The air does escape. That is one cause of stuttering. You must learn to control your breath. Breathe and vocal exercises so that you can speak with enough air to last you through a sentence. Do not let the air waste itself in false starts, so to speak. Detailed suggestions in a special leaflet, subject which I will send you if you will repeat your query and inclose a s. n. c. for reply.

Q. Is compressed air more hurtful than ordinary air? P. W. W.
A. The Bureau of Standards says the compressed air is not so hurtful as common air. The advantage of using compressed air in diving suits, submarines, etc., is that it keeps the water out of the lungs, and permits a lighter construction of the container.

Q. Does a light colored cigar wrapper indicate a mild cigar? J. C. H.
A. The tobacco used in wrapping a cigar does not disclose its internal make-up.

Q. What is the number of women in the United States belonging to secret women's clubs? F. M. J.
A. The latest published membership of the General Federation of Women's Clubs is 2,000,000.

Q. What makes necessary break in tempo of piece? S. H.
A. Mercury being a liquid has surface tension. It also adheres to very few substances. This surface tension, when the thin film of mercury is round, tries to make the mass of mercury form itself into as small a shape as possible and causes it to break up into a quantity of small droplets. Water or any liquid would do the same if they did not adhere to substances.

Q. Is it necessary for a cow to have a calf every year in order to give the best milk? L. M.
A. The chief factor on which the propagation of milk depends are: the quality of the milk, the capacity of the cow, which is largely determined by her breed, heredity, etc. Cows often secrete milk continuously for two or three years without producing a calf, but on the other hand the birth of calves serves to stimulate the secretion of milk. Authorities on the subject agree that the best results are obtained when the cow produces a calf at regular intervals each year.

Q. In there any race of people which is immune to tuberculosis? H. B.
A. The Public Health Service says that there is no race or tribe of people known who are not subject to tuberculosis. In some parts of the world, due to climatic conditions and the occupation of the people, tuberculosis is very rare.

The Doctrine of the True American

LENROOT EXPLAINS HIS CREDITS LAW

Not Currell for Farm Ills, but Aid to Business Farming, Assession.

Plymouth, Wis.—The Lenroot farm credit law, which recently took effect, is "one piece of legislation permanent in character and permanent in its benefits that will help the farmer to conduct his business in a business-like way," U. S. Senator Irvine Lenroot, author of the federal statute declared in an address here last night. An explanation of the law was made by the senator during the course of his talk.

"This is not a cure for all farmers' ills, for in spite of what some men who seek their votes tell them, there is no such thing," Senator Lenroot said. "Constructive work for the farmer," he added, "does not lie in loud denunciation of the government, or of Wall Street, or of banks, or of the rich. Anyone with well developed things and a loud voice can do that."

Must Study Problems.
"The who would really serve the farmer," said the senator, "is the one who weighs every proposition in the scales of common sense and promise nothing that cannot be performed. Those of us who have worked out the problem of agricultural credit have tried to do something constructive and we believe we have succeeded. Experience will not doubt reveal the necessity of amendments here and there, for no one claims that it is a perfect act, but we have at least done something to meet the farmers' needs instead of merely to talk about them."

We hope this agricultural credit law will be as successful in providing for the personal credit needs of farmers as the Farm Loan Act has been in providing loans for their farms. If the farmers choose to utilize the new system I have no doubt of its success. At any rate Congress has now provided the machinery and the capital with which the farmers can secure the same credit facilities as the merchant and manufacturer.

"Of course the act will not help the shiftless farmer, the farmer who spends his time in town, upon the street corners damping the government instead of working his farm. The only way such a farmer can be helped is by electing him to some office, the salary of which you are all taxed for. Neither will it help the farmer, who however industrious either without brains or does not use them.

"There are failures in every line of business and the business of agriculture is no exception. If the farmer hasn't any brains he had better quit farming and go to work for Ford in some factory where brains are not required."

Senator Lenroot explained that the farmer should have the same credit facilities as the merchant or manufacturer, but that due to his need for long time loans, banks were in no position to grant the special credit desired by farmers. He said that the farm credit law he sponsored met this particular need of the agricultural population.

12 Intermediate Banks.
Under the new law there are 12 federal intermediate credit banks, each with a capital of $5,000,000. The total available for agricultural aid is $60,000,000.

Do You Object to Living In A Used Home?

How many people are living in homes in which some other family has lived before—in other words, used houses?

How many people are getting profit, happiness and health out of automobiles which somebody else owned before they did?

Where would this country be today if every time a man moved out of a house he built it would be destroyed?

Where would this country be today if all the used cars were junked without having lived out their full life of usefulness?

What of the men, who, for good and sufficient reasons, don't want to buy new cars?

What of their families? What of their business, health and happiness?

Used cars, like used houses, are filling a most vital need in this country. Where the one shelters the family as one under its roof, the other takes the family as one into unexplored by-ways and reveals to them new delights. Where one is a common meeting place for the whole family, the other is a source of inspiration and joy to the whole family. Each plays its part.

There is no more reason for hesitating about buying a good used car from a reputable dealer, than for hesitating about moving into a used house.

Each is an essential to life, to health and happiness. And it is only fair to yourselves—you who are thinking of buying used cars; to consider the question in this light, thoughtfully and honestly.

MORE THAN ONE story has come from the east that Dempsey is a lucky guy. Lucky, not merely because he knocked out Luis Angel Firpo of the Argentine lucky because he is the only one of the world. The hope is that he is fortunate that the referee down in New York state had a case of blindness, or something of that order. Strange, by enough, similar stories came from that financial flaccid out on the waste plains of Montana. And, it all again brings up the query: "Why should he be particularly in a championship affair?"

AT SHELBY, the writer saw Jack Dempsey and Tommy Sullivan. The pictures of that fight proved that Dempsey hit low, below where the belt is supposed to be. If Dempsey did that at Shelby, what is to hinder him trying questionable tactics in his next fight, providing he is able to get away with it? This idea that the champ should be given all the advantage is the bunk. Boxing rules were not made for champions alone; they were not made for the purpose of keeping the crown on any one man. They were made to provide justice for BOTH men in the ring, not to keep the champion from being kept, as he is supposed to be naturally applied, the same, as any law.

PRESS ACCOUNTS tell of Dempsey being lifted and then after the man from the Pampas hoisted him up and through the ropes. Not one, but several accounts repeat that happened. Where was the referee, and where were the judges when that occurred? The hope comes through that Dempsey hit Luis when he was down, that he failed to depart from the side of the fallen opponent and go to his corner where he should have been. Where was the referee and where were the judges when that occurred? There is something "rotten in the state of pugilism."

Military polo title of world at stake Tuesday. British and American armies meeting at Westbury, N. Y.

Seven former champs among 52 teeing off Tuesday in national amateur golf meet.

Rear Admiral Grayson's My Own and Zoy of Rancocas stables, likely to meet in $50,000 race at Laurel, Maryland, Oct. 12.

Diamond Sparkles (By A. F.)—George Kelly, Giant first baseman, made three homers in succession, two bagger and single in five times at bat against the Cubs, who lost 10-8. Such a feat never before accomplished in major league baseball. O'Farrell and Muesel also hit homers. Yankkees, who need one more victory to assure appearance in the world's series, lost to Cleveland, 6-2. Pirates defeated by Boston, 6-1. Cincinnati did not play, clinging to second place. Red Sox broke even with White Sox, losing first game, 6-1, and winning second, 6-5. Chicago led in second until eighth—Washington defeated St. Louis twice, 10-0 and 12-0. A winter game called by seventh for darkness. Walter Johnson pitched both games. Senators collected total of 14 hits in two games. Pirates lost two games in Philadelphia, 2-0 and 4-3. In first, St. Louis defeated Philadelphia Nationals, 6-0, making it four out of five for series. Series to decide baseball championship of Chicago will be played this fall. President Veeck of Cubs, present champion, accepting challenge of President Comiskey of White Sox. Guy Bush, recruit pitcher from Greenville, Mississippi, club, made major league debut on mound for Cubs, leading Kelly have only single. Frank Luce, outfielder of Flint, Michigan, club, reported to Pirates and played in last part of game. Babe Ruth had no chance to knock home run, walked four times by pitcher Smith. Ruth has record of 156 bases on balls. Arch Deacon, star outfielder of Rochester club, International league, reported to White Sox and stepped into game as lead off man. He knocked home and single in first. Dick Egan, head coach of Boston and then repeated in second. Cy Williams, leading home run hitter of Nationals, failed to get hit against St. Louis. Lester Bell, formerly of Houston club, reported to Cardinals. St. Louis Nationals, and took whiff at playing shortstop, looking good.

Tilt Denton defeats Johnny Layton and Otto Reisel beats Bob Cannafax in three cushion title play.

Dick Bader, recruit halfback, booting neat place kick between uprights. Signal drill given Iowa in second day's workout. Parkin at quarter and Fry at full. Illinois gets eight hours work Monday with limbering setting up and signals. Cameron, Ohio quarter, out with strained shoulder. Mills sends his 25 men through defensive tactics in rain. Notre Dame has nine vets and 13 second string men.

Buddy Mac wins 2:08 pace at Columbus.

Scraps About Scrappers—Dempsey leaves New York for Salt Lake city home, saying he will meet no one until first of year. Sammie Mandell, Rockford, featherweight, won every round with Joey Fox, champion of England, at Indianapolis (10). Tex Rickard announced decision of California fight between Carpenter, French heavyweights, expressing desire to meet Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul fighter in 15 round bout at Madison Square Garden. Louis Hill knocked out Frankie Kline, Fort Worth, (2). Jimmie Smith, Market Tree, Ark., knocked out Ray Maywood New Orleans welter (2). Kid Panchito, San Antonio, knocked out Gene La Rue, Canadian heavyweight (3). Charlie Rontrop, Little Rock, won catch weight wrestling match from Paul Martinson, Chicago. Eddie Anderson Moline, given newspaper decision over Kevyle Trembley, Chicago (10). Jack Malone, St. Paul middleweight, won judges decision over Jimmy Darcy, New York, (12).

Glenna Collett leads Canadian golf meet.

MITCHELL'S TONGUE BRINGS SUSPENSION

Chicago—Manager Fred Mitchell of the Boston Nationals was indefinitely suspended by President Heydler for continued violation of the playing rules. Mr. Heydler in announcing the suspension, said Mitchell had been ordered out of the game a number of times because of his persistence in arguing with the umpires.

EVANS AND JONES TIED AND EITHER WILL HALT OTHER

[By Associated Press.]

Chicago—Thirty-two of the leading golfers of America, including seven former holders of the title, teed off Tuesday in the first 36-hole match round of the national amateur golf championship at Flossmoor, result of their ability to survive two qualifying rounds of 18 holes, in which Bobby Jones, Atlanta, and Chick Evans, Chicago, tied for low score at 149.

Jones, national open champion, set the medal score by chalking up par 71. Monday, Evans, having equaled his Saturday score of 75, held the pace, and although he missed a five foot putt for a birdie four on the sixth, he still was in the lead.

Both Jones and Evans can not reach the finals as they are in the same half of the draw and one must eliminate the other in the semi-finals if they get as far as that.

METZGER DEFINES STARTING SIGNALS

BY SOL METZGER

(Copyright, 1922, by Sol Metzger)

Do the best, teams use starting signals? If so, how are they worked?

Nearly all good teams use starting signals. Their main purpose is to permit the line to charge together just as the ball is snapped. Just as the center passes the ball, so a team of starting players in a game will do so. When the opposition knows your starting signal, it will prove a handicap to your team.

The center, you know, is the key to the employment of starting signals, but it has not yet been able to devise a law which prevents their use. Until this is done, the starting signal will be used quite generally.

Some teams use a starting signal for their line only. Their backs start with the snap of the ball. The theory is that if the backs start on a starting signal, they will continually "beat" the ball and be penalized for starting before it is snapped. A line is often able to get this jump on the ball and not get caught. It takes an experienced umpire and head linesman to detect a line man beating the ball.

Sol Metzger, our football expert, and one of the foremost football coaches in the country, will answer our questions about playing football sent him, care of our Sport Department. If a return, stamped envelope is enclosed.

With 20 participating, the 1923 tournament for the men's singles championship of Janesville got under way Tuesday. Drawings were made Monday by a committee of S. R. McKelg, Chad Newman and Don Bolles.

First round matches must be played by Sunday. To avoid delay, matches may be played on any courts available. These include the Y. M. C. A. courts, the Chevrolet, the School for the Blind, and most Reuter's court on Ringold street. Several matches will be played at the Fifield-Kohler court at Crystal Springs.

All matches except the finals will be best two out of three sets.

The committee has ordered a 13 inch silver loving cup gold lined, standing on a base. A smaller cup will be given the runner-up.

Because of 26 players, a preliminary round had to be worked out. A. J. Brandt plays Rex Jacobs; Glen Riley opposes Bob Bolles; Claude Bennett plays Charles Riley and Floyd Bennison, Harry Kelly.
